Why most companies think they are being “Ghosted”

- Enhanced unemployment created incentives to stay home
- Pandemic created barriers to work
- Candidates are unmotivated, unreliable, disrespectful, etc.

Why they are really Ghosting you

- There aren't enough people to go around
- You are only focused on the most active candidates
- They don't like you
- You're too slow

There is no “fair share”
any more

The Drought is Here to Stay

- Birth rate continues below replacement level
- Baby Boomer retirements accelerating
- Newer Generations working less
- Employees leaving the workforce in record numbers
 - Entrepreneurship
 - Gig work
 - Part Time Work
 - Not Working at All

To consistently win, we need to be:

- More attractive to our candidates
- More aggressive than our talent competitors
- More purposeful in our recruiting approach
- More committed to retaining our employees

They don't like you

Questions to ask yourself:

- Am I recruiting, or am I just processing candidates?
- Is my job posting appealing?
- How do they feel after our initial call?
- Why would they want to work with us, instead of another company?
- How do we keep them feeling engaged and valued?

Strategy: Be Likeable

- Engage applicants with enthusiasm, respect, and value
- Treat every applicant as if they are your next great employee (they might be!)
- Make every interaction positive and memorable
